To Whom It May Concern

Gold Yon War was employed by Leegaa Limited as a software developer on a fixed-term contract between June and October 2025.

The company was rapidly trialling a new product which required Gold to work with the Founders across all aspects of its development, deployment and support. Once the trial was finished on schedule he completed an orderly shutdown, securing all data and completing a post-project review with valuable insights and advice.

Gold was an exemplary employee: knowledgeable, diligent, responsive, unflappable and efficient. He was able to understand the objectives of each component of the product, offer wise guidance on the best way to achieve them, and execute with minimal oversight.

We would have no hesitation in employing Gold again in a senior role.
